

Don't wait until you graduate to begin to develop lawyering skills!

GSU's Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic will:

- Help you bridge the gap between traditional law school courses and the active practice of law.
- Teach you what is involved in actually engaging in the practice of law.
- Develop your professional judgment and brief writing skills, while working with several of the over 350 clients of the Clinic.

This Clinic Is Not A Tax Course.

- In the Clinic you will be assigned exclusively to several clients that will require you to conduct interviews, gather facts, draft briefs and other documents.
- In the Clinic you will operate in an actual law firm environment, learning the complete spectrum of case management skills.
- In the Clinic you will perform a much needed community service.

For more information visit the Tax Clinic web site: gsulitc.org or contact Professor Blasi: rblasi@gsu.edu